Financial Report

Large spending on group buy is due to the member cost paying for the group buy in April, but the cost going to Midwest Malt was paid in May, thus the large group buy expense

Slightly larger monthly income in May due to Cerveza

Currently $1000 in Cerveza expenses, will conservatively rise to $1500 after the last of the purchase receipts are submitted.

$70 monthly income from club grain/yeast store

PNC might be able to offer a decreased rate 501c3 fee processing, but we may have to retool the website payment system, so it may not be worth the effort.

Grain disposal will likely be cancelled after the invoices are settle, depending on the cost

Brew BQ

Brew BQ will be a homebrew invitational on Aug 12

Invitational would be free to members of other homebrew clubs

May be a starting point for CHAOS being a leader in the Chicago homebrew scene if we want NHC to come to Chicago

Could become a yearly event that CHAOS hosts

Our revenue stream would be from selling merch, but we would still supply food and ice (and possibly recruit new members). Only 16 beers from CHAOS members will take the burden off of party setup. Six of the beers will be for a beer school on the keezer. (Jayson will organize.)

Donation hat for suggested donations at the door

Outreach plan:

Brixie's: Kyle

Square Kegs: Jeff W

Evanston Brewclub: Jeff W

BOSS: Jeff W

Logan Brew: Jeff W

UKG: Jeff W

We would need buy-in commitments from 3 clubs to go ahead by the July meeting

Need a budget by the July meeting

NHC Planning

Gas carbing station for NHC beers. James will police it to prevent abuse

Steven has a business card update

CHAOS group photo for a banner that will go in the booth. Steven will order the banner

Shirts have not been ordered yet, but the turnaround time is unknown

People who will brew on club night:

Jay Gowdy

Chris Bernardo

Steven Lane

Mike Struck

Todd will type a call to arms for club night brewing at the clubhouse

Other Items

Steven Lane has free shelving he will bring in

Brandon talked about building wooden shelves in the lager fridge

Chaos brew club email addresses: All board members get an email address

All members will be set up for the Slack account
